QUICK HITS

- In the opening week of the season, the Mavericks faced off against two formidable Power 5 opponents, Texas A&M and Kansas, in the Omaha Invite presented by Sarpy County Tourism. The Mavericks were defeated 3-1 in their first ever meeting with the Aggies and were later downed 3-0 by the Jayhawks.
- Shayla McCormick and Kali Jurgensmeier each ended the weekend with 20 kills. Both had double-digit kills vs. Texas A&M, with McCormick also totaling 14 digs and three blocks overall and Jurgensmeier finishing with 12 digs and two blocks.
- After four years as an outside hitter and middle blocker, Rachel Fairbanks has now transitioned into being the team's primary libero. Over the weekend, she recorded 14 digs and two service aces in her new role.
- McKenna Ruch is off to another solid start up front with eight total blocks (1.14 blocks/set) and 13 kills through the first two matches. The AVCA All-American Honorable Mention racked up 145 blocks (1.24 blocks/set) and 305 kills (2.61 kills/set) last season.
- Now the team's primary setter for the first time in her career, Olivia Curry has already put up a career single-game best with 35 assists in the season opener vs. Texas A&M. She currently sits at 61 on the season.
- Newcomers Amanda Hardt, Anika Ivester, Erica Fava, Emily Huss, and Olivia Tukuafu all made their Mavericks debuts last week. Fava currently leads the team with 15 digs and three service aces, while Hardt is first among the newcomers with 13 kills and four blocks. It was Ivester, though, who had the biggest kill of the season so far when, during the second set vs. Texas A&M, she knocked one down the line to win the set 27-25 for Omaha. This was the first kill of her career.
- The Huskers will be the third-straight Power 5 opponent the Mavericks face to begin the season. Omaha will then play a match at K-State, followed by three home games against Long Beach State, No. 18 Creighton, and Iowa State to continue their stacked non-conference slate.

NOTES & QUOTES

SCOUTING NEBRASKA

The Huskers are off to a 3-0 start to their season after sweeping Utah State, Lipscomb, and SMU, all in three sets. Last year they advanced all the way to the NCAA regional semifinals, falling to Oregon in five sets.

HUSKERS TO WATCH

Junior libero Lexi Rodriguez is coming off her second consecutive AVCA All-American honors and currently has over 1000 career digs (4.272 digs/set). In three matches this season she has compiled 33 digs.

Sophomore middle blocker Bekka Allick was named AVCA North All-Region as a freshman with 77.5 blocks, 189 kills, and 10 service aces last year. So far this season she has 11 total blocks and 12 kills.

Freshman outside hitter Harper Murray currently leads the Huskers on offense with 33 kills and five aces. Defensively, she also has 21 digs and six blocks on the season.

SERIES HISTORY

Nebraska leads the all-time series at 26-3. The two teams last met in 2021, when the Mavericks went to Lincoln and took the Huskers to five sets, ultimately falling 7-15 in the final set. Omaha's last win in the series came in a five-set victory in 1986.

MCCORMICK MILESTONE WATCH

Entering the season, Shayla McCormick had 626 career kills in two seasons. After putting up 438 in 2022, she stands good odds of becoming the 21st Maverick in history and fourth in the D1 era to join the 1000 kill club. She currently sits at 646 kills.

In addition to reaching 1000 kills, McCormick is on course to top 1000 career digs this season. With 647 digs and 370 coming in 2022 alone, she has a solid chance of becoming the sixth player in program history to reach 1000 kills and digs by the end of this season.

A BLOCKBUSTER OPENING WEEKEND

The Mavericks drew just over 3500 fans during their opening weekend matches vs. Texas A&M and Kansas. The first game against the Aggies was the ninth most attended home match in team history with 1442 spectators, while the match against the Jayhawks slots in at number four on the list with 2091 fans at Baxter Arena.

NOTES & QUOTESLAST TIME OUT

Facing one of their toughest opponents of the season, the Mavericks were defeated 3-0 by Kansas to close out the Omaha Invite presented by Sarpy County Tourism.

Omaha is now 0-2 to begin the season and falls to 2-10 all-time against the 2-0 Jayhawks.

Set by Set: (16-25, 21-25, 13-25)

Initially coming out to a 4-0 lead in the first, the Mavericks wound up being outscored 25-12 in the remainder of the set. While Shayla McCormick and Kali Jurgensmeier each picked up four kills in the set, the team's 11 combined attack and service errors prevented Omaha from coming up with the win.

Morgan DeBow started off set two for Omaha with her first kill of the season, followed by McKenna Ruch's first block of the day. Amanda Hardt also had another impressive set in her young career, racking up five kills including three in a row for Omaha to get them within four points of Kansas later in the set. It was not enough to fully get the Mavericks back in it, however, as the Jayhawks held on to take a 2-0 lead.

Like many times over the weekend, the Mavericks came out strong at the beginning of the set, with rookie Emily Huss getting her first career block to give Omaha a 4-2 lead. Brynlee Arnold later recorded her first kill of the season on a tower blast from the right side to make it 7-7. The Jayhawks, though, began to quickly pull away, going up 18-13, before scoring seven unanswered to close out the match.

Inside the Box Score

With six more kills and two more blocks tonight, Hardt ends her first week of action with 13 kills and four blocks.

Jurgensmeier and McCormick again led Omaha in total kills with eight and seven, respectively. The two are now tied for the team lead with 20 kills each.

PRESEASON POLL

For the sixth consecutive season, the Omaha Volleyball team has been ranked third overall in the Summit League Preseason Poll. Once again, the Mavericks were also just one of three teams to earn a first-place vote in the poll.

Last season, the Mavericks posted 20 wins and advanced to the Summit League Tournament Finals for the second consecutive year. The team went 14-4 in conference play, with only South Dakota, South Dakota State, and North Dakota State picking up victories against them. Omaha also played in the NIVC for the first time in program history, falling to Pacific in the opening round of the tournament.

PRESEASON PLAYERS TO WATCH

The league also announced its list of Preseason Players to Watch, with McKenna Ruch and Shayla McCormick both being named for the first time in their careers.

Ruch looks to lead the way for Omaha in 2023 after becoming just the second Maverick in the Division I era to earn AVCA All-American honors. The First Team All-Summit selection ranked in the top 10 in the Summit in kills (305), hitting percentage (.341), and blocks (145). She also had two double-digit block performances, posted a hitting percentage above .500 in six matches, and set a new career-best with a .714 hitting percentage against Lipscomb on September 16.

NOTES & QUOTES

As for McCormick, she followed up her impressive rookie season by becoming one of the top offensive players in the conference, finishing fifth overall with 438 kills and third in kills per set with 3.74. She also finished fourth in aces with 43 and 11th in digs with 370. Overall, she ended the season with 28 double-digit kills matches and 20 double-doubles. McCormick was named to the AVCA All-Midwest Region team and First Team All-Summit.

NEW FACES

The Mavericks added nine players in the offseason, giving the team an even nine returners and nine newcomers.

Olivia Tukuafu was one of the top high school players in Arizona, earning Regional Player of the Year honors in her final two seasons with Mountain View High School. Her club team, Aspire, also won the Arizona Regional Tournament.

Amanda Hardt is another Arizona product and was a four-year letterwinner with Deer Valley High School. After winning the 4A West Valley Region Championship as a freshman, she went on to set numerous team records in her senior season with 113 aces, 530 kills, and 76 solo blocks, culminating in her winning 4A West Valley Offensive Player of the Year.

Erica Fava comes to Omaha from Pacenza, Italy and is the only non-freshman among the newcomers following two standout seasons with Western Nebraska CC. She earned NJCAA First Team All-American both years, as well as being named NJCAA D1 Region IX Player of the Year twice. She was also an AVCA First Team All-American, All-Nebraska JUCO MVP, and Region IX Tournament Champion.

Bryn McNair was a three-sport athlete at Chase County Schools and is one of three newcomers from Nebraska to join the squad. A two-time conference champion and two-time runner-up, she was crucial to her team's success, being named First Team All-Conference twice and First Team All-State as a junior.

Emily Huss is another in-state kid and can be found throughout the Fairbury High School record books. Guiding the team to back-to-back Southern Nebraska Conference titles and making First Team All-Conference as a junior, she would end her high school career with records in single-game kills (32), single-season kills (406), single-game blocks (nine), single-season blocks (144), and career blocks (360).

Meghan and Makayla Tiahrt were three-year letterwinner at O'Gorman High School. In the twins' sophomore and junior seasons, they helped the team to back-to-back South Dakota State Championships, as well as an AAU National Championship with their club team, Kairos Elite Volleyball.

Ivy Leuck attended Skutt Catholic right here in Omaha, lettering in all four years. During this time, her team won the Nebraska State Championship every season, while she claimed an All-Conference Honorable Mention as a junior. She also won two national championships with Premier Nebraska Club.

Anika Ivester was a four-time conference champion and two-time Iowa State champion during her time at Xavier High School. During her sophomore season, she set the team blocking record with 126 in a single year. She would earn First Team All-Metro and All-MVC honors in her senior season.
